

learn, that "mine host" of the Commercial Hotel has been fitting up, in very tasty style, the large hall on his premises, and proposes giving dramatic and musical entertainments, during the dull season, several old favorites of Honolulu theater goers, we are told, are engaged, and Smith—John Smith—the inimitable "Piafume Butler," is among the crowd. Wallack, also, is on the list, aided by Miss Immel, Mr. Townsend, etc. It is said, Mr. Beatty, than whom a better could not be procured, is to assume the management.

Owing to our supply of printing paper having become exhausted, we have not been able to issue for the past two weeks our usual extra sheet, and consequently have been compelled to omit the whaler's ship list and many advertisements. We expect a supply of paper by the Palmer, and may be obliged to delay our next issue till her arrival.

For the Commercial Advertiser.—
Mr. Editor:—One would think that the editor of the Government Organ, with a salary of two thousand dollars a year, would consider it his duty to defend his brother officers, if innocent, against the slanders of his own correspondents and others, instead of defending the Nell Gwynn theories of European religion and morals as set forth in the London and Westminster Review.

The "distended bladder" correspondent in the last Polynesian, signing himself "We, the People of England," charges certain officers of government with dereliction of duty, in drawing the list of jurors for the last term of the Supreme Court, because of their "moral sentiment" proclivities.

It is not your business to defend the officers in question. Another person is paid for doing that; yet I am not so uncharitable as to believe them guilty, upon the mere ipse dixit of the "bladder" man. However, if they are guilty, as the Government Organ tacitly admits, I demand a general outbursting at once of all the criminal parties concerned. The "distended bladder" correspondent further thinks that the chances of his being "hung," if tried by the list of regular jurors, are against him. I will not dispute that, knowing his own antecedents, he is a much better judge in that matter than I. The British Consul, who does not lack penetration, and who very naturally sympathized with his distressed countrymen arrived at the same conclusion as the "bladder" man, in his different "principles, sentiment and feeling." Hence all this indignation and random shooting about what may, in the sequel, prove to be something or nothing, according as to whether the "bladder" man is up for nothing or not.

I shall not commend the English Consul for throwing the third Article of the French treaty over a countryman, to protect his rights, upon so frivolous a pretense as in the Joe Booth dance case. If that third Article is really valid, then every foreign Consul here has the same right to shelter their respective countrymen from justice; an invaluable right, truly, and, as a foreigner, I ought not to quarrel with it. That belongs to the duties of the editor of the Government Organ, who "writes for the nation and not for a clique." However, just for the fun of it, let us treat a little upon his toes, and look for a moment at that third Article of the French treaty, and see what it amounts to.

We find that the Article was negotiated between France and this kingdom under the all-potent influence of the guns of the Artemis frigate, commanded by Captain C. Laplace, on the 18th of July, 1839. That it was afterwards transferred to the treaty negotiated with France on the 26th of March, 1846, under protest again, by the sovereign authority of this weak kingdom. That it has, ever since, been protested, against by the authorities of these islands, and in one instance to the extent of a thousand printed pages, quarto, at an expense of about two thousand dollars to the tax-payers of this country. That, on the 16th of March, 1851, notice was regularly given by this Government (as they had a right to do) to that of France, that the objection was made to an end, and that subsequent notice was given on the 31st of July following, to the same effect. It will be seen by the above historical facts, that a principle is all along involved in negotiating the notorious third Article of the French treaty, which all Publicists on international law or municipal law deem nugatory to every and all contracts, wherever it is incorporated: that is coercion. The treaty was first enacted under coercion, and, to secure its fulfillment on the part of this kingdom, twenty thousand dollars was demanded, which sum was made up by the "moral sentiment clique" here, to save a remnant of the sovereign prerogative, and was taken away by Capt. Laplace, as a pledge. These facts are undeniable; and now, that this Government will admit that the treaty in question is a "real" treaty and ought to be heeded, is downright funkiness; whether the fact be diplomatic, editorial or otherwise. No one will envy the honors acquired by the head of our foreign affairs in conceding away a principle so vital to an independent sovereignty, and, what is worse, serve (as in the case of the hanging of the "bladder" gentleman aforesaid) to defeat the ends of justice. After the "thousand pages quarto" defence of the King's prerogative, and his own disinterestedness in the matter, I am at a loss to conceive the Minister's motive in making the concession, unless he contemplated the possibility of a turn in the wheel of destiny, and that he might need, some day or other, the intervention of the same treaty in his own behalf. I would invite, in a friendly way, of course, the gentleman who plays on the Government Organ, to heed with his motto, to "write for the nation and not for a clique," and that he suddenly cease the attempt to popularize here the Nell Gwynn theories of the London and Westminster Review, and look more fully to the nation's interest, lest his Majesty, some early morning, should make the awkward discovery between meum and tuum. A TAXPAYER, BUT NOT ONE OF THAT JURY.

Mr. Editor:—So far as concerns my remarks in your paper upon dance-houses, I am quite willing to leave them before the public, side by side with all the replies in the Polynesian. I hope people will read both sides of the question. If I have been guilty of a breach of etiquette in alluding to the editor of that paper by his proper name, I owe him an apology—and he owes one likewise to a former editor of the same paper for calling him Mr. James Jackson Jarves. Mr. Charles Gordon Hopkins will please accept my humble apology.

The former editor of the Polynesian, in his Parisian sights (Chap. 8), makes use of the following language:—"Prostitution in the United States is left alone so long as it does not intrude itself upon the public by a violation of some ordinance." &c. Thank you Mr. Editor. It is the same in England and in these Hawaiian Islands, and I must repeat the hope that since the legislation of these islands has been pronounced by you to be already in advance of the people and the times, we shall not have the folly to run ahead of those two great nations. There was no need to quote a former editor to prove that the immorality in question is licensed in France; all the world knows that, and I suppose there are some in these islands who think that the morals of France are superior to those of England and the United States, owing no doubt to missionary influence in the two latter countries. But I forbear.

Before closing, I must be allowed to say it was not my intention to reflect upon the personal character of any of the jury in Rex vs. Joseph Booth. So far as I am concerned their good name is packed in cotton. I, for one, do not hold to the doctrine advanced by the editor, we have studied appearances and connived at superficialities too long. If he is conscientious in advancing this sentiment, and in his avowed determination to dispute inch by inch the position already taken elsewhere that the claims of a handful of foreigners are superior to those of the Hawaiian nation; if he really means what he says, let him put his principles into practice, and "try it on" upon white men, as well as natives. Let him publish to the world the doings of seducers, foreigners, who by their pestilential influence lead Hawaiian females astray from the paths of virtue and innocence whether the missionaries were leading them. If he would be consistent, he must do this, however much it may wound the feelings of those who cover with a mantle of charity the fault of our neighbors of every color. K.

To the Editor of the Pacific Com. Advertiser.

Sir,—Your paper of the 22d inst. contains an article over the signature of "Nauticus" asking the American Commissioner and yourself whether you are "aware of a report now going the rounds in Honolulu, and every day gaining ground, to the effect, that during the past shipping season, seamen confined in the fort of Honolulu, have been held at the order of one shipping master only, while those in the same business, but less favored of the powers that be, were unable to obtain a man, however willing they might have been to ship."

I might here content myself Mr. Editor, by simply though emphatically pronouncing, as I now do, the article basely false in every particular, and malicious in its character; and perhaps, in the judgment of many this would seem sufficient, but in my own judgment it is not, as I have given two separate and distinctly written invitations to the author, of whom I have the most positive proof, (I forbear at this time from feelings of delicacy towards others, to mention his name, though if necessary hereafter, I will do so) to come to my office and personally examine my books, to satisfy himself how groundless his charge was, which invitations he has not accepted, nor have they in connection with other written remarks of mine, elicited from him either an open avowal or a positive denial to me of any participation on his part in the publication of the article, although I charged the authorship directly upon him.

I can therefore pursue the matter no further at this time, than to proclaim the author a base traducer and falsifier of my character, and so leave him to the judgment of the public.

W. C. PARKER, Marshal of H. I.

A TONAR.

Mr. Editor:—Will you permit one of your readers to propose the following "sentiment," to be drank in pure cold water, by every lover of morality and good order throughout these islands:

His HAWAIIAN MAJESTY—Our beloved Sovereign—The self-constituted and Right Royal "Vigilance Committee," for the suppression of vice, and the punishment of iniquity. May his reign be long and prosperous, and noted for its rapid advancement in all those acquirements which elevate and ennoble a nation. JESSIE.

Foreign Summary.

At Cairo, Egypt, 200 houses were thrown down during the earthquake on the 12th of October, and the remainder were nearly all damaged. The vast population had encamped outside the city.

The Dowager Empress of Russia has accepted an invitation from the King of Sardinia to pass the winter at Nice, and the royal palace is undergoing extensive preparations for her entertainment. She will be accompanied by a numerous Court, including some twelve or fifteen princes and princesses, maids of honor, physicians, officers, musicians, &c. The Empress arrived at Genoa on the 23rd of October. She was received at the station by King Victor Emmanuel, who, riding on horseback alongside her carriage, escorted her to the Royal Palace. Afterwards the troops of the garrison and the National Guard marched past in silence, on account of the state of health of the Czarina.

The new Fresnel light, at Humboldt Bay, was to be illuminated for the first time on Saturday, Dec. 20th. The tower is 53 feet in height, and the light should be seen, in clear weather, from the deck of a vessel, 12 nautical or 14 statute miles.

Though but eighteen years have elapsed since the first vessel wholly propelled by steam crossed the Atlantic, now there are fourteen lines of steamers, comprising forty-eight vessels, plying between Europe and the United States.

The total amount of gold yielded by California up to January 1, 1856, was $356,345,000; Australia has yielded to the same date, $241,420,000; making in all the enormous sum of $597,765,000. What becomes of all the money?

In Chili, the most stable and prosperous of the South American republics, great attention is being paid by the government to education. They have established 42 new schools during the past year, making a total of 758, in which are 30,000 pupils, one-fourth of whom are girls. Chili is also extending large sums of money for steamships, railroads, and other public works.

During the late war, a certain M. Tselsky, attached to the Commissariat of the 4th corps d'armee in Russia, took to flight, carrying with him the contents of the treasury, amounting to the enormous sum of 600,000 francs. By an official notice in the Journals de St. Petersburg, he is summoned to appear before a military tribunal at Warsaw in the course of six months if in Europe, and one year if he is out of Europe.

KING BOMBA.—This name was given to the King of Naples by the Sicilians after his bombardment of Messina. Messina took part in the abortive attempt made by the Sicilians, in 1848, to shake off the yoke of Naples; and it was the first place upon which rebellion fell, being taken by General Filangieri in the September of that year, after an obstinate resistance, during which the town suffered severely, the slaughter being immense, which only served to augment the hatred of survivors against the King.

Pio Nono.—His Holiness is fond of paying unexpected visits, generally with a view to some charitable or beneficent purpose. A few days ago he surprised the widow of a Government employe, residing in the Trastevere quarter, with a visit of this kind. The widow, it appears, had sent a petition to the Pope, conveying such a picture of her petulant and peevish husband, and the misery of her family, that his Holiness resolved to verify the state of affairs, in order to grant her some relief, if deserving of it. Pio Nono's commiseration was sufficiently excited by what he saw, for he immediately ordered the widow's name to be put on the pension list for twelve scudi a month, and left the poor woman and her family overwhelmed with joy.

A LONDON FOG.—It is a long time since the metropolis and the suburban districts have been enveloped in so dense a fog as prevailed on Wednesday last. Several accidents took place. About ten o'clock a man, carrying a lighted flambeau in the Waterloo-road, was knocked down by a vehicle, and much injured. At Wimbledon a man named Houghton, a singal-man on the London and South-Western Railway, was killed while endeavouring to signal the eleven A. M. express train, the fog being at the time very dense. A man named Watkins, employed at the points near the Wandsworth Station as a singal-man, was also run over by a train, and killed on the spot. The guards on the different lines of railway describe the fog as one of the densest they have witnessed for many years. The morning papers have witnessed for the fog to go to press without their usual intelligence from the north of England and Ireland, the ordinary parcels by the North-Western Railway not having come to hand at half-past three o'clock in the morning.—Illustrated News, Nov. 1.

EXPOSURE OF THE LIMANTOUR FRAUD.—It has been known for some time that agents of the United States government have been actively engaged in procuring evidence of the fraudulent character of the Limantour claim, recently confirmed by the U. S. Land Commission. In consequence of the developments thus made, the U. S. Grand Jury last week indicted Limantour who is a resident of San Francisco and has been considered worth a million of dollars, arrested and held him to bail in $30,000, being unable to furnish which he was placed in the custody of the U. S. Marshal. Subsequent investigations resulted in obtaining a full confession, before the County Grand Jury, from one of his accomplices, Emile Letanneur, which it is said proves the fraudulent character of Limantour's claim beyond cavil. The trial of the case will no doubt be productive of a rich exposure.—Bulletin.

The consumption of paper in England and France is about four and a half pounds for each person, while in the United States it reaches ten pounds for each individual. The rags required to make the 270,000,000 lbs. of paper consumed in the United States, amount to 337,000,000 pounds.
